THE PROBLEM

The gap nobody is solving.

Millions of Indians are stuck between two extremes — and there's nothing in between.

Passive SIP

Fundwise zone

Direct stocks / Trading

You

Blind SIP keeps running

Your money gets deducted on the same date every month — regardless of whether the market is at a high or a low. You're buying at random.

No actionable from alerts

You hear 'market is 2% up today' — but you don't know what to do. Is this the right time to invest more? Pull out? Nobody tells you.

Gains sit untouched

Your mutual funds may have grown 25% this year. You don't know. Nobody nudged you to book partial profits or reinvest smarter.

More than SIP. Less than trading.

There's a whole segment of investors who are underserved — engaged enough to want better, busy enough to need help.

✓ Great fit

The busy professional

Has ₹10–50L in mutual funds. Set up SIPs years ago and hasn't reviewed them since. Wants better returns but has zero time to track the market.

✓ Great fit

The cautious investor

Trusts mutual funds. Doesn't want the volatility of direct stocks. Just wants to squeeze more from what they already have — without more risk.

✓ Great fit

The SIP skeptic

Has been investing for 3+ years and feels like returns could be better. Open to timing it smarter, but not ready to move to stocks.

✗ Not for them

The active day trader

Checks the portfolio 10 times a day. Wants full control and has time for it. Fundwise would feel too passive for them.

The market moves, but you have no way to act on it.

"Today the market is 2% up." You hear this. You feel something. But you have no way to act on it. There is no actionable. No one tells you what this means for your specific funds.

Fundwise knows where you're invested

You've shared your portfolio. We know exactly which funds you hold, at what NAV, and how much you've put in. Nobody else has this context.

We track NAV movement daily

Every day at 1:30 PM, we compare each fund's NAV against its recent trend. We know if today is a high or a low — relative to your specific funds.

We turn market noise into action

Instead of a vague 'market is up', we tell you: 'SBI Small Cap is near a 30-day high — consider a partial exit.' Specific. Actionable. On your funds.

Four steps. Zero complexity.

1

Upload your portfolio

Import your statement from any broker — Groww, Zerodha, CAMS, Kfintech, or MFU. We read your holdings, check overlaps, and build your profile.

2

We watch every day

Our server runs at 1:30 PM daily. We check NAV movement across your funds and look for timing windows.

3

You get a suggestion

WhatsApp or a quick call. 'Good time to add to HDFC Mid-Cap today' or 'SBI Small Cap near high — partial exit?'

4

You decide, you act

You go to your broker app and execute — or not. We log your response. Next month, we do it again.

Fundwise never buys, sells, or moves your funds. No broker access. No transactions on your behalf. Every decision is yours.

It reaches you where you already are.

Most users won't open an app every day. The suggestion finds them on WhatsApp — the one thing they always check.

Arrives by 1:30 PM

Every day we check NAVs. If there's something to act on, a message goes out before 2 PM — well within the cutoff for same-day mutual fund orders.

One tap to respond

Reply 'Done', ask for a 2 PM reminder, or skip. No login, no app. Your response is logged and we won't nag you again that day.

Quick call option

Prefer voice? Enable a short call at 2 PM on actionable days. A 90-second walkthrough of what to do and why.

Always a suggestion

We never execute anything. The message is just information. You go to your broker app, make the call, and come back to mark it done.

Buy at the dip. Exit near the peak. Repeat.

The same monthly amount — but deployed at smarter moments within the month.

Blind SIP

Fixed date · fixed fund · no awareness of where the NAV is in its cycle. You might be buying at the month's high every single time.

Fundwise approach

Same monthly amount — but timed to the NAV cycle. Invest near lows. Book partial profits near highs. Reinvest smarter.

Stop leaving money on the table at tax time.

Most SIP investors pay more tax than they need to — because nobody reminds them when to act.

Annual tax harvesting

Fundwise tracks your LTCG position across funds. When you approach the ₹1.25L tax-free limit, we alert you to book profits and reinvest — resetting your cost basis without paying a rupee in tax.

No exit load surprises

Most equity funds charge 1% if redeemed within 1 year. Fundwise tracks your purchase dates and never suggests an exit that would attract a load. Every suggestion is exit-load-free.

Tax-aware fund switching

When we suggest moving between funds, we calculate the exact tax impact first. You see the net gain after tax before you act — no unpleasant surprises at filing time.

Fundwise checks exit loads and LTCG status before every suggestion. Only clean, tax-smart opportunities reach you.
